Systematic Growth In Central And Eastern Europe

Brenntag Acquires Orlen Polimer

Brenntag has taken over the Polish company Orlen Polimer with retro-active effect to January 1, 2004. "In Orlen Polimer we have found an ideal partner who will enable us to supply the full range of polyolefins to our customers in Poland and the neighboring markets. Moreover, this acquisition systematically expands our distribution network in Central and Eastern Europe," says Daniel Pithois, the member of the Brenntag Management Board responsible for European activities. Zenon Maslona, Managing Director of Brenntag in Poland, adds: "By taking over Orlen

Polimer, Brenntag Polska has secured the polyolefin distribution activities of Basell Orlen Polyolefins (B.O.P.), a joint venture of Basell, the world's leading producer of polypropylene, and chemical company PKN Orlen S.A." Brenntag took over Bulgarian chemicals distributor Manti in Sofia back in 2002. ♦
